They minimize the redundancy in the language. For example, instead of saying: á Ć œJohn was John's house because John's mother wanted John at home, Ády Ády Á Á Ć œJohn went to his home Because your mother wanted him at home. ě á Á Ć pronouns save many shades. However, the domain of pronouns can be diffilled. It is necessary to learn to identify subjective, objective and possessive cases. It is necessary to learn to avoid using vague pronouns or pronouns with poorly clear background. And many times, all this should be done in real time, while someone is talking. I created many spreadsheets, resources and pronoun activities over the years. These features were made available for free to you. I hope this will help. Pronoun Spreadsheets, Pronoun Pronoun Pronoun spreadsheets and antecedent spreadsheet | With dinosaurs - Students read phrases with dinosaur themes, identify the pronouns and locate the background to which they refer.
